

AI/AN CHAMPS Presents: 4-Hour Breastfeeding Clinical Skills Training

The AI/AN CHAMPS Team is pleased to announce that Camie has developed a culturally relevant 4-Hour Breastfeeding Clinical Skills Training. This course is designed to cover the hands-on clinical training required by Baby-Friendly USA™. Taught by Camie Goldhammer, this course will cover basic clinical skills around breastfeeding, hand expression, skin-to-skin, and safe formula preparation.

TRAINER HIGHLIGHT

Camie Jae Goldhammer, MSW, LICSW, IBCLC, (Sisseton-Wahpeton tribe) is the founder and chair of the Native American Breastfeeding Coalition of Washington, a member of the Native American Women's Dialogue on Infant Mortality, a member of the Center for Social Inclusion's First Food Social Equity Cohort, and a founding member of the Nation Association of Professional and Peer Lactation Supporters of Color. Her work focuses on the effects of historical and complex traumas on American Indian/Alaska Native families, inequity in breastfeeding support, breastfeeding justice, and food/tribal sovereignty through breastfeeding.

VISIT THE EVENTS PAGE TO VIEW TRAINING INFORMATION!

Questions? Contact

Indiancountrybreastfeeds@gmail.com

Camie Jae Goldhammer, LICSW, MSW, IBCLC
CHAMPS Consultant
Founder and Chair, Native American
Breastfeeding Coalition of Washington

